Digging In: A Guide to Community-Based Habitat Restoration

is the latest publication from the Community-Based Habitat Restoration and Education Program -- a program of the California Coastal Commission and the Tides Center. This how-to guide gives local volunteers, concerned citizens, and grassroots organizations the tools and information they need to get a habitat restoration program up and running. Attendants receive a free copy of Digging In and a networking contact list. Development of coastal restoration projects and community engagement strategies-- as well as common pitfalls-- will be discussed.
